Lesson 2: Hardware

2.3 Server Clusters

The original CHPS install contained two sets of servers, or server clusters, which included the primary operation cluster and the second a back-up cluster. It was determined that the primary and a backup system was not enough to support a set of servers. These servers are hereafter referred to as the primary and back-up clusters.

Microsoft Office kills Clip Art, replaces it with Bing

You’d better enjoy Microsoft’s cheesy Office Clip Art catalog while you can, because it may be going away in favor of Bing.

According to a Microsoft support page, the company is retiring its Office Clip website. As an alternative, Microsoft suggests searching on Bing Images for visuals that are free to use under a Creative Commons license. Just look for the “license” button under the search bar, and choose from the “free to share” or “public domain” options.

On Monday, a post on Microsoft’s Office blog claimed that the Clip Art option would be nixed from the desktop version of Office, but that post has since been removed. We’ve reached out to Microsoft for clarification, but in the meantime, we’ve had no problem adding glorious, old-school Clip Art to documents in Word 2013. (They’re available through the “Online Pictures” button under the “Insert” tab.)
